DEAR FRIENDS,

It is with great pleasure and no small amount of pride that I look forward to welcoming you all to the first-ever European Athletics Young Leaders Forum to be held at Olympiapark München, host for the European Championships Munich 2022.

It is entirely appropriate as host of the second edition of the multi-sports European Championships, after Glasgow and Berlin in 2018, that Munich provide the backdrop for the eighth edition of the European Athletics Young Leaders Forum, in a multi-sport version with participants from all nine sports federations.

The idea behind the Young Leaders Forums is first and foremost to host a successful event that will in time create a community for the activation and empowerment of young talents to grow into the leaders of the future. This will be our eighth edition and follows on from the 2020 event held online due to the coronavirus pandemic.

There has never been a more appropriate time than now for you, as future leaders in your sport, to be actively engaged in sharing and providing solutions for the future vision of sport in a landscape that has significantly changed these past 18 months.

In return for your active participation in this forum we will endeavour to provide you with a line-up of some of the best speakers from the sports community to deliver in depth knowledge, concise presentations and meaningful insights into their sports to hopefully bring you inspiration during the event.

The European Championships Munich 2022 will celebrate 20 years since the European Athletics Championships 2002 and 50 years since the Olympic Games took place here in 1972. In 2020, European Athletics also celebrated 50 years since its inception in 1970. We hope that after this event you will be inspired for the next 50 years!

Best regards,
Dobromir Karamarinov
European Athletics President

DEAR FRIENDS,

We are excited to host the European Championships Munich 2022, following a successful premiere of the multi-sport extravaganza in Berlin and Glasgow. On the occasion of the 50th anniversary of the 1972 Summer Olympics, Munich is set to welcome the second edition of the European Championships, with the former Olympic venues at the heart of the event. The architects of Olympiapark München were visionaries – designing a multi-functional park that has hosted more than 14,000 events to date. However, since the summer of '72, none of those events will compare to 11 – 21 August 2022, when more than 4,700 athletes from across Europe will gather in the Bavarian state capital to compete in nine sports, in the pursuit of one of the 177 gold medals on offer.

Our vision is clear: "Munich 2022 leaves an inspiring and lasting legacy to all participants, the City of Munich and future sport events." The impact a multi-sport event – and for that matter, sports in general – can have is complex, from uniting fans from all over Europe and entertaining them in a light-hearted atmosphere, to inspiring the next generation and boosting local sports communities. The Munich 2022 programme and the legacy it is leaving go beyond the fields of play.

It is hence only fitting to take the concept of the European Athletics Young Leaders Forum and implement it across the board for Munich 2022. On the following pages, we present you our idea of a combined European Athletics Young Leaders Forum and kindly invite you to join in. In the meantime, our team will be working relentlessly to deliver the best possible conditions for all participants and make the event an overall experience to be remembered. We cannot wait to see you in Munich. Stay safe and healthy!

Best regards,
The Munich 2022 Local Organising Committee

THE LEADERS OF TOMORROW

The European Athletics Young Leaders Forum was first held in 2006 in Gothenburg, Sweden. Since 2010, it is taking place biannually during the European Athletics Championships. The Forum brings together highly motivated young adults, who are involved in sports and looking to evolve it further. The participants share their experience, build friendships, and learn from the best – World Athletics President Sebastian Coe, Prince Albert and Ndaba Mandela, grandson of Nelson Mandela, are among the personalities to have spoken at the Forum.

Organised by former Young Leaders themselves, the Forum promises to maximise sharing and emphasise collaboration. Daily team challenges and manifold, exciting topics keep things lively and fun. The Young Leaders' mission is to promote volunteer work and grassroots projects in athletics to help members develop themselves and make valuable contributions to sport and their local communities.

The Munich 2022 Local Organising Committee, in cooperation with European Athletics and the Young Leaders Senior Team, is looking to extend the Forum to all nine sports represented at the European Championships Munich 2022. Whilst the focus will remain on athletics, the participants will benefit from the international exchange, discussing social issues, management structures and innovative ideas that span the world of sports.

Every participating European Federation will be eligible to choose up to six participants for their sport to take part in the Young Leaders Forum Munich 2022. The respective national federations can nominate one participant, with the European Federation picking the final participants. Among the six participants, one should be from the host nation, Germany. Additionally, the LOC and European Athletics will hand out wild cards to regional federations to participate in the Forum, in an effort to support the development of regional sports.

The European Athletics Young Leaders Forum is set to kick off on 17 August, with the first couple of days dedicated to European Athletics and the combined Forum – including all sports – then taking place from 19–22 August.

WHERE SPORTS AND SCIENCE MEET

Olympiapark München is an iconic location, bridging the past and the future. The worlds of sport and entertainment are united under the famous tent roof structure. From recreational complex to international event centre, the park's versatility is setting an example in terms of sustainability and post-Olympic usage. By 2022, a new piece will be added to the puzzle, with an impressive new building being constructed by the Department of Sport and Health Sciences of the Technical University of Munich (TUM) and the University Sports Centre (ZHS). On a generous area of 34 hectares, Europe's most modern and largest sports campus will offer perfect conditions for sports and education alike, making it the perfect venue for the European Athletics Young Leaders Forum Munich 2022.
